ON THE COVER:

Some of the many alumnae who have contributed to their Class Scholarship Endowments. (L-R): Suzie Burke '61, Celeste Gazarek '70, Brigid Flood Laing '55, Suzy Martineau Banchero '64, Joanne Shannon McDevitt '55, Celeste McDonell '73, Pat Kelly Feltn '56.

Dear Alumnae and Friends,

Once again our alumnae take a leadership role in promoting the mission of Holy Names Academy. Their establishment of—and support for—class endowments is both touching and inspiring to our community, to say nothing of the impact. This school year, we have $1.4 million to award in need-based financial aid. All of this aid is generated either by investment earnings from endowment or Annual Giving gifts. On behalf of the many students who benefit from financial assistance, I extend my deep thanks to our alumnae community for their leadership and generosity in promoting class endowments.

HNA alums are also a strong presence in other leadership roles. They serve on our Board of Trustees, the Parent Board, numerous committees, and, of course, the Alumnae Board. In addition, we are grateful to the many alums who participate in Career Day, Peace and Justice Day, and other school events. The strong involvement of our alumnae community is a significant influence in the Academy's culture and mission.

We are equally pleased with the number of alumnae who return to the school to work or coach. Currently, over 20% of our faculty and staff are alums. They teach science, English, mathematics, religion, and social studies—and serve as counselors, librarians, and athletic coaches. Alums work in our Development, Business, and Admissions offices.

In other news, we were thrilled last summer to be recognized again by the Puget Sound Business Journal in its annual "Washington's Best Workplaces" honors, and to receive a bronze medal in the category of companies with 50 to 99 employees. This distinction is based on a confidential survey of employees, and is a wonderful tribute to the passion and dedication of our faculty and staff.

Finally, our Pavilion construction project is going well. The roof of the new pavilion is on, and the interior taking shape; we are on time and on budget. We look forward to opening in late May.

Sincerely,

Liz Eldredge Swift '71

THE PAVILION IS

ON TARGET FOR SPRING UNVEILING

Floor-by-floor between the historic school building and the modern gym, the steel-frame outline of the Academy's new Pavilion was quickly nearing completion as Christmas break approached. The three-story structure, the school's most ambitious construction project in a quarter-century, is on schedule for completion in spring 2017.

Benefits to current and future students will include:

- New, state-of-the-art fitness center to promote lifetime fitness among all students, not just athletes.
- Expanded cafeteria seating in the new Cougar Den.
- Outdoor roof deck.
- Flexible commons area for students to gather, collaborate, share digital information, and build community—or just relax.
- New, welcoming lobby entrance to the gym, with new athletic trophy cases.
- Renovated library, enhanced to better prepare students to utilize digital research methods and resources.
- New multipurpose conference room and a Board room to help ease frequent need to use the library for meetings.
- New, ADA-accessible elevator (an addition—not replacement—to the historic 1920s elevator).

Top: Architect's cutaway rendering views the entire Pavilion project from the south, including the new fitness center (bottom-floor right), Cougar Den (bottom-floor left), student commons area (middle floor), outdoor roof deck (upper-floor left), new conference room (upper-floor middle), and board room (upper-floor right).

Middle: Rendering of the finished HNA Pavilion viewed from the east (22nd Ave. side), with the existing gym to the left and the main building to the right. The doors shown will open into the new student commons area when the project is complete in spring.

Bottom: Construction of the same view (from 22nd Ave.) of the Pavilion at Christmas break. The upper floor visible will house a new board room for meetings and small gatherings.

ALUMNAE IMPACT:

Supporting the Next Generation of HNA Students

THE WORDS OF THE HOLY NAMES ACADEMY MISSION STATEMENT ARE ELOQUENT: "YOUNG WOMEN WHO GRADUATE FROM THE ACADEMY WILL DISCOVER THE POWER THAT IS THEIRS TO DIRECT THEIR LIVES IN PEACE, JUSTICE, AND MERCY."

The practical application is simpler, if no less a clarion call: "You don't graduate from Holy Names Academy without knowing that you need to help each other," says Suzie Burke '61.

Basic concept, profound outcome. More than 10 years ago, Burke and five classmates were musing—over pizza, beer, and wine at an informal 45th-year reunion—about a possible group gift to honor the Class of 1961's golden anniversary, five years hence. The talk turned to scholarships for students from families of relatively modest means.

"The biggest need at a fantastic school like Holy Names Academy is to make sure a broad spectrum of girls has the chance to be there," Burke explains. "It's an amazing four years of life. Each girl brings with her a whole lot to share."

She and classmates Dorene Centoli McTigue, Karla Kay Russell, Joan Spiller Saxton, and Carol Hunhoff Westlund hit upon a goal: "$50K for our 50th." Thus was born The Class of 1961 Scholarship Endowment, which not only reached the classmates' ambitious goal in time for their golden gathering in 2011, but has since swelled to surpass $140,000 in principal that generates interest used for annual tuition aid to current HNA families.

And thus, too, was born the growing power of alumnae efforts to create and fund class endowments.

CLASS ENDOWMENTS: 13 AND GROWING

Over the last decade, Holy Names Academy alumnae from 13 different class years have launched scholarship endowments named for their class years (see Class Endowments List), while three other scholarships, started by individuals as memorials (see Memorial Endowments List), have grown through substantial support from classmates of the alums memorialized.

CLASS OF '56: "BEST CLASS EVER"?

"It takes a spark," says Pat Kelly Feltn '56, who was inspired to fire up her classmates after hearing another alum discuss the concept of class endowments during a meeting at the school.

With Mary Lew Pearson Miller as Feltn's co-pilot, enough members of the Class of 1956—self-proclaimed as "The Best Class Ever"—gave that the $25,000 threshold for a scholarship endowment was met in 2016, just after the group's 60th reunion.

In a few short years, the scholarship has become a normal topic of conversation when classmates gather. "We can share with others what we received from the school," Feltn says. "Now that my granddaughter's at HNA, I realize that the diversity of the school is a benefit to every student in the building."

CLASS OF '59: FROM SORROW TO SOLIDARITY

The Class of 1959's story extends back to their first years at HNA when a much-loved classmate, Mollie Funke, died of cancer. While the students were still together at HNA, classmates organized a series of fundraisers to create a fund in Mollie's memory. With support from the Funke family, the fund reached $1,845—a considerable amount in 1950s dollars.

As years passed, the fund remained relatively small until class members began to anticipate their 25th reunion, which was coming in 1984. "Over the years," recalls Betty DeLeo Chandler '59, "I'd wondered what had happened to Mollie's fund." In 1984, $10,000 was given to officially establish the Mollie Funke Endowment Fund. As their 50th reunion approached in 2009, classmates came together and grew that endowment to the $25,000 level, where it would generate a scholarship annually.

Every year since, Chandler has made it a point to update her 1959 classmates about the young women chosen to receive what is now called the Mollie Funke '59 Memorial Scholarship. "It's so impressive. Scholarships are discussed now as part of HNA's mission, making it possible for any girl who is academically ready for HNA to consider attending."

"YOU DON'T GRADUATE FROM HOLY NAMES ACADEMY WITHOUT KNOWING THAT YOU NEED TO HELP EACH OTHER."

— Suzie Burke '61.

For alumnae mulling ways to support their alma mater, Chandler has a few words of advice about scholarship endowments: "Get started. Make it a goal. It isn't easy, but many little bits put together make a whole lot! Momentum builds."

CLASS ENDOWMENTS LIST

The following Holy Names Academy class years have established endowments to provide annual income for scholarships to current students in financial need. When the principal in a fund reaches $25,000, the annual interest income generated is awarded as a named scholarship. Through support made annually or in connection with alumnae anniversary reunions, these 13 endowments had grown to a collective principal of nearly $464,000 (as of June 30, 2016, including pledges made):

Class of 1955	Class of 1964	Class of 1968	Class of 1973
Class of 1961	Class of 1966	Class of 1971	Class of 2009
Class of 1963

MEMORIAL ENDOWMENTS WITH MAJOR SUPPORT FROM CLASS YEARS:

The following Holy Names Academy scholarship endowments, created by family members as memorials to deceased students, receive substantial support from classmates of the named alumna:

- Class of 1957: Ellen McMullen Hansen '57 Memorial Scholarship
- Class of 1959: Mollie Funke '59 Memorial Scholarship
- Class of 1997: Sara Marie Fogelquist '97 Memorial Scholarship

Alumnae interested in establishing a scholarship endowment for their class year are encouraged to contact Erin Wicklund '97, Planned Giving Officer, at (206) 720-7803 or ewicklund@holynames-sea.org for assistance and guidance.

HNA FACULTY AND STAFF SCHOLARSHIP

Since 2013, the faculty and staff of Holy Names Academy have donated annually to a scholarship fund that "supports the mission of the Academy to serve young women of diverse ethnic, economic, and religious backgrounds." Over three years, the principal reached more than $84,000. In recent years, 100% of the HNA faculty and staff have made financial contributions, either to the Faculty and Staff Scholarship Endowment, Annual Giving, or the SAFE Fund.

Celebrating Class of 2020 Legacies

Every fall, the Alumnae Office celebrates incoming Legacy students—students with relatives who attended or are attending HNA—with desserts in the SAC. This year, the 9th-grade Class of 2020 has 58 Legacy students! Pictured are the daughters, granddaughters, and great-granddaughters of HNA alumnae.

Bronze Medal for HNA among 'Washington's Best Workplaces'

Every year, the Puget Sound Business Journal conducts a series of confidential online interviews of employees in companies statewide to determine an annual list, "Washington's Best Workplaces." In 2016, the magazine again honored Holy Names Academy, this time with a bronze medal in the category of companies with 50 to 99 employees—"another wonderful tribute to the passion and dedication of our faculty and staff," said Head of School and Principal Liz Eldredge Swift '71. A group of school employees gathered to attend a special celebration for this year's honored companies in August at Seattle's Safeco Field.

Deck the Dome 2016: A Joyous – and Record – Success!

Merrymaking filled the halls of Holy Names Academy as the celebratory crowd—400 guests in all—enjoyed the annual Deck the Dome holiday celebration on December 3, 2016. To the accompaniment of great food and wine, the HNA Vocal Ensemble, Orchestra, and Concert Choirs entertained with their holiday musical performance.

The 2016 event raised funds to support the purchase and installation of a new phone and communication system throughout the HNA campus. Since the school's previous system is no longer supported by the vendor, a replacement was imperative. Generous guests and event underwriters helped set a new fundraising record of more than $130,000.

Registration will begin in September.

An annual highlight of Deck the Dome is the ceremonial lighting of the Dome to signify the start of the holiday season. Richard and Anne Schaefer, parents of Ellen '19, served as 2016 Dome Lighters, having successfully bid for the honor at the spring 2016 CHEER! Auction.

The Dorothy McBurney Fouty '50 Volunteer of the Year Award was presented to Anne Read-Andersen '82 for her service and dedication to the Academy. Head of School and Principal Liz Eldredge Swift '71 paid tribute to Anne's generous spirit and the exceptional leadership skills she has displayed through loyal and enthusiastic service on the Parent Board and Alumnae Board.

LEGACY SPOTLIGHT

Nick & Dana Skoog Questad '03

Nick and Dana are “passionate about education and about women in leadership,” says Dana. After their second daughter was born, the couple included Holy Names Academy in their estate plans. Dana’s grandmother (Dorothy McBurney Fouty '50) and mother (Karen Fouty Skoog '75) are both HNA alumnae. Encouraged by the school’s financial-aid support for students, she and Nick wanted to help secure HNA’s future.

“It’s a privilege and an honor that we have been given so much through the schools that we’ve attended,” she says. By communicating their intention to support HNA in the future, Dana and Nick became part of the HNA Legacy Society.

For information on including HNA in your estate plans, please contact Erin Wicklund '97, Planned Giving Officer, at (206) 720-7803 or ewicklund@holynames-sea.org.

DID YOU KNOW? The permanent Charitable IRA Rollover provision in the federal tax code allows individuals age 70.5 or older to contribute up to $100,000 per year, tax free, directly from their IRA or Roth IRA to a qualified charity or charities. This can be great way to maximize your gift to Holy Names Academy.

For more information please contact: Erin Wicklund '97, Planned Giving Officer, at (206) 720-7803 or ewicklund@holynames-sea.org.

THANK YOU, FALL PHONATHON VOLUNTEERS!

Many thanks to all the volunteers who helped make the 2016 Fall Phonathon a huge success! A group of current parents, alumnae, trustees, and HNA student Ambassadors devoted four October evenings to phoning more than 2,000 HNA alumnae, inviting them to be a part of Annual Giving. Special thanks to the alumnae who made calls; HNA alumnae love to hear from their classmates!

Annual Giving is well on the way to this school year’s goal of $735,000. Participation by all members of the HNA community—including 100% of the Alumnae Board, the Board of Trustees, the faculty and staff, and by over 97% of the parents of current students—is making this possible.

HNA's College Counselors seek speakers from a wide variety of careers to participate in Career Day by sharing their educational choices, professional training, and career path.
